

October 2007

Yes, fall is upon us bringing cooler days, chilly nights, and lots of pretty colored leaves, lots and lots and lots of colored leaves! After living the last 5 years in a desert climate we've grown accustomed to very little leafage in the fall. Currently back together as a family in good old Southern New Jersey we are enjoying the love and support of our home church, family and friends as we finish support raising before heading off to Monterrey. Thanks for all your prayers regarding the sale of our house. Although it didn't go according to our plans God worked out all the details. We did settle about week after we left El Paso. More importantly than the sale of our home was the opportunity for Kathy and Jeffrey to join me in Monterrey and serve alongside the work teams those last two weeks in July!

Casa Hogar

This orphanage has about 30 plus kids from infants to early teens. The church planter's wives along with team members from New Covenant in Abingdon, MD assisted in a VBS for the kids at the orphanage. In the background you can see where other team members began laying the foundation for a new all purpose room. This will provide a place for the children to play and have indoor activities. We look forward to further opportunities to work with these wonderful kids!

The next week we were able to meet and serve with the newest church plant "Cumbres del Rey." It was exciting to be part of their first VBS because this is where we will live and worship once we get to Monterrey. After looking for a building to rent for the VBS and finding them too expensive Pablo, the church planter and his sister used their homes in a cul de sac for the VBS. Big sacrifices were made to transform the homes into classrooms for the weeklong VBS. With the help of Coral Springs PC and the Cumbres del Rey church family everything came together wonderfully. Sixty kids from 3 years old and up to a growing teen class attended and their parents joining the closing exercises. We are praying the impact made will result in the spreading of the Gospel in this new area.

Prayer requests:

Steve ~ getting settled in his senior year
Jeff & Kathy ~ Homeschooling
Scott ~ to be diligent in the task set before me
To grow in grace as a family

Praise:

A wonderful reading tutor for Jeffrey
The wonderful group of supporters and prayer warriors who have come along side of us ~ Amen

Cumbres del Rey

Romans 12:5 &6... Once again we have been reminded of the diverse gifts and talents of our brothers and sisters in Christ.
